Dear Parents and children,

I hope this letter finds you safe and well. I write to you on what would have been the last day of this Spring Term. Of course, we find ourselves in a rather different frame of mind. At this time, I do not know when we will be returning, however I think we all would agree it is unlikely to be for a while yet. What seems like an age has only actually been 2 weeks at home.

I encourage you over the next fortnight to stay at home and stay safe where you possibly can. How strange that in a time of lock-down, we may all become closer and more united than ever before. In place of the normal, we have been given time – a treasured gift that ordinarily is in such short supply for most of us. Let us decide to see this time as a gift, as after all, today is of course the present! The more we actively direct our minds to notice a smile, a kindness, a tear of frustration, a behaviour born out of loneliness and separation we are putting in place a brick of self-worth and a cornerstone of resilience that will outlive the coronavirus epidemic and stay with our children' for the rest of their lives.

Thank you to everyone for your messages of support and we have enjoyed receiving your fantastic photographs of your learning. I pray that you stay well, safe and positive during this Easter time. Easter is a symbol of hope, renewal and new life. These are positive concepts we can all unite around at this time. Take care and keep in touch.

Warmest Regards
Mrs K Yuen

To Everyone houses,
I wonder how sad it is when you can't go anywhere well I can cheer everyone up! Why doesn't someone maybe be kind to you and give some things to you that you need? Maybe they can buy you food I know maybe one.
I can cheer all of you up. Maybe if you need water you can get it maybe from me. I can deliver some to you and then some of my friends. Which are called Jonelle, Ruby, Francis, Amelia, Alpie, Thander, Chazim and Nora.
It might feel really devastated when all of you are feeling so bored.
From Elise. ♡ ☺ ☺! No sadness please because I'm here to help

A Prayer by Ethan.

Dear God,

Let us pray for the people whose lives are affected by Coronavirus. Old and young, rich and poor, we must all pray for them. Your Churches have closed but your heart is still open to us. So we ask you to send us your courage and grace and keep our world alive. We've never needed each other more than ever so please protect everyone with your love that lasts forever. I pray for everyone affected by Covid-19 especially the elderly who are more susceptible than the young able people. Let your gentle whisper tell others to follow the rules and listen to your word. Amen

Keep sending in your news. We will try and share all of them over time. Also send in your Signs of Spring photos for our competition.

Message from our School Chaplain- Mrs Darwin

In only one week there has been such a dramatic change to our pace of life. To begin with we were adapting rapidly to new instructions and rules and for the most part wanting to get it right. The realisation of the enormity of what was happening was settling into our very beings. Social distancing, self-isolation, shielding... suddenly this became our common language.

For those working for the NHS and in care, their days are full and relentless in a new and frenzied way. For those in the supermarkets, rubbish collection, post and delivery and other essential services, their work continues with a new emphasis on the importance of their role in society.

Looking for rainbows in every situation can be tricky at times like these... but if like me you tried to count them there were just so many...amazing! Moments during the past week like the shout-out for the NHS were truly uplifting! One couple I know, both paramedics, have had to cancel their wedding this weekend. They have said that support shown by the shout-out as they drove through London with blue lights flashing meant everything to them!

For you as parents, the demands are now on your organisational and creative skills in a way that was never imagined, as every day family life is centred on truly existing together, showing love and kindness no matter what .... So continue to find a solution to each problem as it arises, search for a rainbow in every situation and you will be able to bring a calmness to every storm...and in all of this, just remember to take time to breathe! God bless, Mrs Darwin
